5.0 UPDATE ON WATER, SANITATION AND HYGIENE ACTIVITIES

The Minister of Lands, Agriculture, Fisheries, Water and Rural Development, Hon. A.J. Masuka updated Cabinet on Water, Sanitation and Hygiene Activities in his capacity as Chairman of the National Action Committee on Water, Sanitation and Hygiene.

Cabinet advises that some rural and urban communities could encounter water shortages due to the depressed 2023/24 rainfall season due to El Nino. However, as at 4 April, 2024, the national dams were at 79.9% full which is substantially above the 71.7% full expected during the month of April.

The nation is informed that there are 12 Dam projects under construction. Lake Gwayi-Shangani in Matabeleland North has reached 70.2% of completion; and Kunzvi Dam in Mashonaland East Province has reached 47% of completion. Meanwhile priority will be on the completion of Lake Gwayi-Shangani in 2024.

Regarding urban water supply, some 48.9% of the forty-seven urban centres monitored have twenty-one months of raw water supply (safe supply), while 38.3% of the centres are in the moderate category, with between twelve and 20.9 months of raw water supply, while 12.8% have less than twelve months' raw water supply. The production capacity for Harare currently stands at 301 mega litres per day. Ongoing works at Morton Jefray will increase production to 520 mega litres per day. To date Government has contributed ZW$8 634 000 000 (US$1 465 017. 00) to finance the resuscitation of Harare City water supply. A total of US$4 916 523.49 is required to enable the supply of the targeted 520 mega litres per day. To improve the water supply situation in Harare, Government has drilled a total of three hundred and forty-six boreholes.

Cabinet reports that the combined storage capacity of the dams supplying the City of Bulawayo was 40.09% as at 4 April, 2024. The average daily water production is 91.4 mega litres per day against a production capacity of 155 mega litres per day. Nyamandlovu Aquifer is contributing 13.85 mega litres per day against the optimal 16.38 mega litres per day. Government has also drilled a total of 79 boreholes. To date Government has contributed ZW$6.9 billion (US$1.2 million) to finance the resuscitation of the Bulawayo water supply, through the oversight of the Bulawayo Technical Committee. A total of US$15 299 751 is required to enable the supply of the required 155 mega litres per day. Cabinet resolved to prioritise water supply across the country.

The nation is informed that Government is targeting to develop 10 000 Village Units by November, 2024. The number of Village Business Units identified for April, 2024 is 1 310, with priority being given to villages in Regions 4 and 5. The twenty-eight Presidential rigs available, twenty-six rigs have been reassigned to the ten provinces, based on the number of villages in each province in Regions 4 and 5.

Cabinet advises that the Zimbabwe National Water Authority has drilled and equipped boreholes under the Presidential Rural Development Programme. A total of two hundred and two Business Units have been established. Household beneficiaries' dividends for Village Business Units range between US$50.77 and US$73.33 per household per month from crops and fishery projects, indicating the transformational nature of the Presidential Rural Development Programme.
